Northern Mart

A man named Dahl was yesterday standing on a ladder and sawing off a limb of a tree in front of General Edwards' dwelling, when, somehow, the limb swung round as it became separated from the tree, knocking him senseless to the ground. He fell from an elevation of about eight feet. Being carried home, Dr. Waters was summoned. An examination of the injured parts revealed a dislocation of the frontal and parietal bones of the left side of the head, the disturbance breaking open the entire. The symptoms also indicate a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain, involving the parts adjacent to, and including the osseous structure of, the ear. If this fracture exists, the chances of recovery are very small. Mr. Dahl is a married man and is attended by his wife. Last night he was in full possession of his faculties but experienced difficulty in swallowing. The case is a very serious one.

Maish's wood-working shop is very busy these days. His buzz-saws, his planing machines, his scroll cutters, his potent borers and the rest of his contraptions make it very lively for any lumber piles with which they may be brought in contact. Maish has lately been giving his inventive genius a chance at contriving a patent steam engine; and it bids fair to be a famous affair.

A New Yorker.—The Carson Appeal (new edition), entered upon its 10th volume with yesterday's issue. It is undoubtedly the best family newspaper (with, perhaps, one exception,) published at the State Capital. Persons desiring to cancel their arrears for subscriptions, advertisements and job-work are at liberty to come forward and execute that pleasing task.

The Magnolia Saloon is receiving its usual whitening and general renovation. At the same time the A. & P. Telegraph Company is having things put in readiness for its office to be removed into the place lately occupied by Kelly & Heller.

Here and there a hole in the face of the earth hints at some further efforts to replace, on Capitol square, the trees which died in their innocent childhood. When are we to have our grasses sowed and our clover?

McDOWELL THE MURDERER.—The Enterprise thus reports the result of an interview with McDowell, the murderer of Nell:

He appeared quite cheerful, but distressed at the adverse reports in circulation as to his general character, and especially the one that he had previously killed his man. He says he never had any difficulty with anyone, and was never under arrest before. He has been in the employ of Mr. Gale for about two years, and during that time has been doing business for him as for himself, and has during the whole period been trusted and trusted to the fullest extent. He is a man thirty-five years old, large, fine-looking, and does not wear the appearance of a hater of a bravo. He came from Iowa, where he has a father and four or five brothers now living, and his greatest distress is on account of his relatives; and that he should be reported a worse man than he really is. He says he receives excellent treatment at the hands of Sheriff Cooke.

"Ten Nights is a Harpoo" and drunken Indians are the present night attractions in Reno.

The Bonanza Tax Suit.

In last evening's Chronicle we are informed as follows concerning the so-called bonanza tax suits: "The bullion tax cases against the California and Con. Virginia Mining Companies were brought up in the District Court to-day, when Messrs. Hillyer and Meick, for the defense, by consent, filed amended answers to the complaint. Thereupon the State, by Messrs. Lewis & Deal, District Attorney Drake, Attorney-General Kirtland, C. H. Beckman and R. M. Clarke, filed demurrers to the answers on the ground that, admitting the fact alleged, they constituted no defense. The court sustained the demurrers and gave judgment to the State against both companies for the amount of tax due, with penalty and costs, with ten days stay of proceedings to defendants to appeal to the Supreme Court. The judgment against the California Company is for $132,772.50 and costs; and that against the Consolidated Virginia $86,318.15 and cost." of course an appeal will be taken from this decision to the Supreme Court of the State—at all events it is supposable that such will be the course taken, although the decisions of the latter body, heretofore given, offer but small encouragement to the defendants. It is to be hoped that a speedy and final decision will be arrived at and that by its terms the State will be enabled to collect its much needed taxes.

THE ABUNDANCE OF TROUT.—We cannot guess why trout are so very abundant in our markets, these days. We have never seen anything to compare with the splendid displays of these beautiful fish. It has been so for at least two months. The present being the Lenten season, our dealers are constantly supplied with great strings, ranging in weight from a pound and a half to twenty pounds. It seems as if all the waters of the State were annually full of trout at this time. Mr. John G. Fox showed us one that he caught in the Carson on Wednesday which must have weighed at least four or five pounds. As to Lake trout they are in unprecedented abundance, and fatter than we ever saw before.

The street sprinkler with its outpouring small torrents, comes into timely use as it were the summer time and not the time of early spring. We pass a front door garden patch in our domestic walks where the crocuses and tulips are already bravely in blossom. Sun-bonnets, parasols and house flies proclaim the unwelcome earliness of the season, and rose-leaves and the quick growing shoots of the honeysuckle tell how warm the days and nights have come to be. One might feel more assured of the continuance of this balmy weather but for the long streaks of snow which still lie upon the mountain's ponder.

SCHOOL BELL.—When the Curry Engine Company disbanded they will their bell to the Carson District School. Within the last day or two, the transfer of the bell has been formally made. From Mr. Ferris of the School board we learn that if the taxpayers of this district vote for the tax for building the contemplated addition, the Board will have a stout tower erected on the new part in which to hang this bell. The Currys are entitled to many hearty commendations for their thoughtful disposition of this piece of their property.

LECTURE.—Capt. W. K. Weare will lecture at the District Court Room at 3 o'clock, on next Sunday afternoon, on "The Golden Dawn" or "The Days and Deeds of the Pioneers." This will be a free lecture, and all are invited to attend. Captain Weare is widely reputed to be one of the most gifted writers and lecturers on this coast; and this announcement will doubtless cause a numerous attendance at the Court-house at the time indicated.

FAREWELL PARTY.—Church & Jones have secured Theater Hall, and will on Saturday evening next give their farewell party. A canvas will be spread over the floor, and all the latest dances will be introduced, together with new and entertaining music. Tickets, for gentlemen, $1; ladies free.

The Magnolia Saloon is receiving its usual whitening and general renovation. At the same time the A. & P. Telegraph Company is having things put in readiness for its office to be removed into the place lately occupied by Kelly & Heller.

"Ten Nights is a Harpoo" and drunken Indians are the present night attractions in Reno.

Town's Extraneous makes beautiful, glossy, lacinated hair; prevents its falling out or turning gray. It has stood the test of 50 years, is cheaply prepared, and has no equal.

Hansen's MacGILL'S BALM prevents and removes the complexion; removes freckles, tan and sallowness; makes the skin soft, white and delicate. Its application cannot be detected.

RED COATS COMING.—The Silver State

of Wednesday says: It is reported that the British Government has obtained permission from the Federal authorities to send twenty-four hundred soldiers across the continent from New York to San Francisco. They are ordered to British Columbia and, to avoid the long voyage around Cape Horn in transport vessels, will be sent by rail through the United States. They are expected to leave for their destination some time this month. We believe there has not been a regiment of British soldiers on United States soil since Old Hickory—by the eternal—whipped Pakenham at New Orleans, January 8th, 1815. It is not yet known when they will be along, as they have not arrived at New York.

Paradise Valley is full of ducks, cranes and fat cattle.
